- Consolidated action plan for R&I priorities in health
- Strategic recommendations for health R&I collaborations

SENET Expert Groups

What are the Expert Groups?

SENET creates a sustainable network which intends to facilitate a constant dialogue between European and Chinese health R&I experts and to identify common priorities and collaboration opportunities in the field of health.

For the duration of the project and on a regular basis, SENET mobilises a community of health R&I experts. They are organised into three Expert Groups that support the consortium:

- Policy Implementation Expert Group
- Policy Making Expert Group
- Research and Innovation Expert Group

What are the objectives?

- Identify major policy priority areas and strengthen the policy dialogue on health-related R&I
- Validate and refine converging R&I priorities focussing on three major societal challenges: chronic, infectious and rare diseases
- Develop concrete measures to overcome existing gaps and barriers regarding the different funding modalities
- Make recommendations on how to increase the participation of European and Chinese actors in the respective research and mobility programmes

Why participate?

- Raise awareness for your health R&I activities
- Learn more about Europe-China health R&I priorities, funding schemes and opportunities
- Receive recommendations on health R&I
- Enlarge your network and develop your ecosystem
- Create new links with European and Chinese counterparts for future collaborations
